

The TOENET Advantage – A Community That Gives Back to You

Unlike other communities, this is the only one that actually pays back dividends to its membership. As a cooperative style community, 81% of all revenues earned here at TOENET go back to the membership. Some members earn more than their membership payment, others can make TOENET an exclusive source of income.

This new dynamic in community takes away the downfall to affiliate driven communities that keep each member pitted against the other members who could start to take away from their own income. With TOENET, everyone's contribution brings something to all members of the community.

Because everyone at TOENET works together in a true community fashion, information is not held back the way it is in other open forums. Being a private membership, we keep lurkers, and other undesirables out who make positive and constructive information gathering in public areas almost impossible to most.
